Illness in the Home – Others Must Isolate as Well

Household members who are symptom-free, in a household with an individual who is symptomatic with COVID-19, must not attend work, school or childcare.

Those who are symptom-free should monitor themselves and get tested at the first sign of symptoms related to COVID-19.

Parents must not send children that are symptom-free to daycare, camp or youth activities when there is someone else in the household that has symptoms.

Please follow the COVID-19 school and child care screening guidance every day before sending a child to school or childcare.

Everyone who is eligible should be fully vaccinated as soon as possible.
