

CALLING ARTISTS

who Artists or artist teams who are members of the Saugeen Ojibway Nation (either Saugeen First Nation or Chippewas of Nawash Unceded First Nation) and reside within Ontario.

what To design and fabricate outdoor public art. Artists working in any media suitable for outdoors and exposure to the weather including murals and free standing sculpture are encouraged to consider this project.

where On the expanded site of the Raymond A Barker Water Treatment Plant in Collingwood, Ontario. Just off Hwy #26 leading into downtown Collingwood, the location borders Sunset Park, one of the busiest and most popular beach parks in the area.

why Offer residents and visitors the opportunity to connect with the culture, stories and history of the Saugeen Ojibway Nation and their presence and contributions in today's society. It is envisioned that the theme of the artwork will express the importance of water in the teachings and life of Anishinaabe culture, the sacred connection held by women to the spirit of water and the role of all humans in relation to this important resource.

when Applications are accepted until February 28 at 4:00 p.m. For complete details including the application process, visit www.collingwood.ca/publicart

INQUIRIES

Juanita Meekins, Resources & Infrastructure Environment Office, Saugeen Ojibway Nation execassist.ri@saugeenojibwaynation.ca 519-534-0989